

Half of the loci present in every genome are still called novel

Novelty falls as loci become common (Spearman rho = -0.09, p = 2.6e-79), then rebounds. 43,379 loci genome-wide.

